Bird release

Local Fish and Wildlife officers Fred Arvink and John Mackenzie released another batch of pheasants in the grazing area north of Draytonville last week. In all, 200 pheasant roosters have been released in the last seven kilometers north of the Draytonville Ranger station (watch for signs). The release is part of a province-wide project. Another pheasant release also took place at the Sang Lake reserve near Highway 16. New rules are in effect and hunters are encouraged to visit the local wildlife officer for the regulations along with a map to the areas.

Strip mall

Several new businesses coming to Drayton Valley

My Frank Ryan
A new retail strip mall, gas bar, convenience store, restaurant and hair salon are planned for Drayton Valley. Charlie Muner, chairman of the municipal planning commission confirms that his group discussed the retail strip mall and a gas bar/convenience store at their Oct. 14 meeting. The two proposals are for the lot at the corner of 50 Street and 54 Avenue, north of the Towers Clinic.

Muner stated that the gas bar/convenience store are permitted use under the zoning for that lot, but the retail strip mall comes under discretionary use. As a result, the two applications from a St. Albert architect, who has applied for development permits on behalf of an Edmonton developer, are being negotiated. There's also good news for the downtown business. A Hinton businessman, Peter Salmas, plans to open a restaurant in the old Home Center building which has been vacant for several years.

Mack and Mann

Wait-and-see approach is taken

Mack and Mann Trucking of Drayton Valley are taking a "wait and see" approach to a new facility. John MacKenzie told The Western Review last week that his firm had originally planned to build on a 6.76 acre site along Highway 22, at the entrance to Sigurd Wood. The original plan was to build a shop on the site and eliminate two or three yards that the company previously has in town. However, MacKenzie says all that has changed, due to the present climate. He even indicated that he may have to sell the land, unless things pick up.

Salmas operates the Eagle Steak House in Hinton. And, a new hair salon, to be known as Koko's Hair Ltd. is scheduled to open soon in the Dodson Mall.

Reaching out

Commercial development along highway

A commercial development along Highway 22 is proposed in Drayton Valley's new general municipal plan.

The plan, prepared by the Yellowhead Regional Planning Commission, suggests highway development along the west side, from 50 Ave. (Poplar Ridge road) north to the landfill site.

Greg Birch, a long-range planner with the planning commission, says no time lines have been set by the town on the proposed development.

The plan also proposes that the town look at the area behind the highway development for light industrial.

All the recommendations listed in the town's new general municipal plan will be discussed at an open house meeting Oct. 30 and 31 in the basement conference room at the town office.

Displays will be set up and copies of the plan will be available. Representatives of the Yellowhead Regional Planning Commission will be on hand to answer questions. The plan also reveals that the town is not expecting any significant change in its population patterns in the next 10 years.

The population is expected to increase by about 40 persons per year over the next 20 years. In 1990 the population is predicted to reach 5,400.

The one thing that could change that would be the annexations of Poplar Ridge, which was not included in the general plan. The town is not planning to move on that," Birch stated last week.

The plan also includes several sections in the downtown business core and the parking problems. It is the hope of the plan ners that the general public will attend the open houses and make their views known

Election coverage next week

Complete election coverage will be carried in the Oct. 28 issue of The Western Review. This issue has already gone to press when voters were going to the polls.

Opinions

No communication

Community groups who are in a position to awards grants, should have better communications.

Recent developments point to some sort of control.

The town's recreation department handed out $4,000 via their community grants program. And, the Royal Canadian Legion gave away thousands of dollars.

It's not known how much the Legion awarded, as they don't make that public.

However, it is known that at least two groups got money from both the town and the Legion while 10 groups who made application to the town for funding, got nothing.

Besides the town and the Legion groups like the Kinsmen, Lions and the County of Parkland donate to local and area groups.

It's obvious from the 15 applications the town received that a lot of groups need funding.

If there was some communication between all the service clubs, organizations, the county and the town, more groups would have a better chance of getting a slice of the pie.

And if a communication link is established, they might consider making all the grants public. That way, everyone will know what the other group gets, which might eliminate groups getting funds from more than one source.

One person that wants to see this work is recreation director Calvin Bannister. His office would be an ideal place for all the other groups to phone with their grant requests.

Something tells me this is one of the groups that got funds from other sources!

Drayton Valley game completely sold

Do you think the town is trying to tell me something?

The back door, that we use for early morning (council) and evening (recreation board) meetings was locked the last time we went to the town office. The town has installed a new security system, and I can honestly tell you it's working. However, we understand numerous people have experienced trouble getting in the town office. This includes town staff.

Then last Tuesday, I received a final notice on my water and sewer bill. If it wasn't paid by Oct. 22... the service would be disconnected.

Besides the notice on 'pink paper', a $10.25 penalty was added on for good measure. It would be interesting to see how much the town collects from such penalties in a calendar year.

Editor's Notes

By the way, I rushed down to the town office and paid the bill, including the penalty.

Lions club member Ken Gremm reports that all 500 copies of the Drayton Valley game have been sold. There's no plans for a second edition.

Why all the fuss over Highway 16? During the recent Thanksgiving weekend, our family journeyed down Highway 16 to Jasper. It was the first time I had driven the Yellowhead route.

And besides being a little boring, with all the trees, the highway was great. We certainly enjoyed all the campgrounds and picnic sites along the way.

One reason for all the traffic fatalities that the highway has claimed, can likely be attributed to people travelling too fast. Or, the road might just be worse in the winter, as opposed to the Thanksgiving weekend.

Kinmen

Proceeds from Christmas book to go to cystic fibrosis

The Drayton Valley Kinmen will be raising funds for cystic fibrosis research for the next 10 weeks.

Until Dec. 30, the Kinmen will be selling the 327-page hard cover volume of My Big Christmas Book. Proceeds from this book will go towards cystic fibrosis research.

My Big Christmas Book is a collection of over 30 Christmas stories along with an aged story written in 24 parts for the 24 days of Advent, all illustrated by full color photographs and easy to read type.

The Kinmen have distributed 100 copies of the book around town. Copies can be obtained at the Tread Mill, Blocks, IGA, Penney's Drug Mart, Steadman's, Value Drug Mart, Valley Gift and Sta.

tionary, Home Hardware, the Gold Pake and from Kin president John Mulgan at the Motor Vehicle branch. Since 1971, Kinmen clubs Canada-wide have contributed $10 million to cystic fibrosis.

Stan Whiteside, president of the Fort Edmonton Kinmen and father of two children with cystic fibrosis says, "The Kinmen's involvement is certainly encouraging. It was one of the reasons I got involved with Kinmen."

Last year, Kinmen clubs in Alberta raised $411,000 for cystic fibrosis. And this year, they would like to increase that by 10 per cent.

Whiteside says all the money raised from projects like the Drayton Valley Kinmen Christmas books, goes toward research. The Fort Edmonton Kinmen president says there was a time, not many years ago, that the life expectancy of a child with cystic fibrosis was four. Now (thanks to research, it's 21.

Devils look ahead after two weekend exhibition wins

It's back to serious business for the Drayton Valley Devils this weekend.

After winning a pair of exhibition games last weekend, the Devils host Sparke Friday and the Barrhead Elks Saturday. Both games start at 8:30 p.m. at the arena. Then on Sunday, the Devils travel to Ingleton for a 2 p.m. game.

So far the Devils have only played one league game, a 10-2 win over Sparke Friday. With an open weekend, the Drayton Valley squad took to the road last weekend and picked up an R1 division in Ingleton on Friday and 10-3 in Rocky Sunday after noon.

Grant McGinn and Trent Pankiewicz both scored two goals in the win over Rocky. Dean Mulgrew, Chad Allen, Bill Adler, Kevin Hutchinson, Rod Pellerin and Troy Kell by had singles against Rocky. Defenceman Darren Pedersen collected three assists. The Devils led 3-2 after the first but put the comeback in the second as they took an 8-2 lead.

It was a rough affair as 62 penalties were called with 34 of those going to Rocky who were playing their first game of the season.

Pankiewicz, just released by the Red Deer Raiders, had three goals and one assist in the win at Ingleton. Robin Cockwill, Jeff Thiel, Hutchinson, McGinn and Adler notched singles. Defenceman Sheldon Dunham had a productive game with four assists.

Referee Philip Stark will add 25 penalties, 19 to Ingleton and six to Rocky.

Lee Chaps The league lost a team on the weekend when Laramie folded. That will result in a 16 game schedule. In three exhibition games and one league game, the Devils have outscored their opposition 31-7.

Grizzlies in final

The Grizzlies and the Teddies ended up second and third, respectively, in a weekend volleyball tournament.

The Grizzlies lost out in the final to Drayton Centre while the Teddies lost in the semi-final to Fairview.

Both squads from Grand Trunk high school in Evansburg fared well during the round robin portion of the Edson tourney.

The Grizzlies posted a 19-9 win and four losses record and played "really well" in the final according to coach Ima Zimmer. "We played some good games and some poor games but we did really well in the final," Zimmer explained. The team won the first of the best of three 15-10 but dropped the next two games by identical 15-12 scores.

"It was very close, so close," Zimmer said.

The Teddies lost out in the semi-finals to Fairview after finishing third in the round robin. Coach Rod Berch said he expected "pretty tough" competition in the Edson tournament. The finish gives the Teddies one tournament win in Grande Cache, one second place in their own tournament and a third in the Edson event.

Both the Grizzlies and the Teddies travel to Camille J. LeBlanc in Red Deer for a tournament this weekend.

More on the oldtimers...

In their opening 8-2 win over Fort Saskatchewan, Briscoe and Wilson had two goal for.

Larry Logan scored twice as the Senators downed Edson 7-1 in the semi final win and also had a goal in their opening 5-2 win over the Lamplighters.

The Lamplighters managed one win in three starts. They dropped a 5-2 decision to the Senators on Friday night with Al Hunkar and Herb Berch getting the goals. Bob Steinberg and Reich scored two goals each in a 9-1 win over Hinton. Then six McGuck, Lyle McGinn, Dennis Balderson, Bill Haves and Bill Huthorn notched singles. Merle Baird had the lone Drayton Valley goal in the 7-1 final loss to Wainwright.

In other round robin games, Edson edged Hinton 3-2 in a shootout. Red Deer got by Wainwright 3-2 and the Buffaloes downed Fort Saskatchewan 7-1.

Briscoe, who had four goals in two round robin games, was selected as the best forward. The best defence award went to Jackson of Wainwright. Doug Haves of Whitecourt was selected as the top goalie and the Senators won the fair play trophy, with just two penalties in two games.

Lee Chaps Ray Letwinick, formerly of Drayton Valley, suited up with Red Deer. Verlan's game against the Lamplighters was the only game he played. All other ice were at the arena on the weekend, working long hours on the ice plant.

High school volleyball coach is learning

By Lorne Christensen
Love and learn
 That's what Scott Lewis is doing with the Frank Mac donald high school Warriors volleyball team.

Teacher Lewis and principal Allan Day are coaching the squad this year even though Lewis confesses he doesn't know much about the sport.

"I played a lot of sports in high school but the one I didn't is volleyball," Lewis explained. The Spruce Grove graduate says he volunteered to help the boys' volleyball team when they couldn't find a coach.

"I'm getting a chance to learn a lot about the sport," he added.

Lewis says he along with former student Dwan Haubner, have been handling the "play making and skills." "I go to practice and help out where I can," he adds, pointing out he has been doing most of the scheduling up to this point. "All Day and Dwan (Haubner) are really super."

Scott Lewis (far right) heads V1 Day. The two share the coaching duties.

he explains. "We also have a good bunch of kids and we have some excellent talent." Lewis says the team has the "best all-around athletic ability" of the teams he has seen them play. "The problem has been consistency," he added.

"We have yet to put the talent together for 15 straight points," he said. But putting that talent together is something Lewis says they will get better at since they play a few more games and tournaments.

"I think by the time we get to the provincials we'll be consistent," he added.

While winning remains the goal of the coaches and 11 players, having fun is also important.

"I'm having a lot of fun and I think the kids are too," he added. Part of the fun are the club's colorful Hermite shorts. "The guys decided among themselves," he said adding they do look "unique" on the court.

While most things have been working well for the inexperienced Lewis says he is disappointed they couldn't have a junior team at the school. "We had 25 to 30 kids try out and we could have had a junior team, but we didn't have the time," he explained.

That aside, Lewis says he has worked out really well.

"I appreciate the time the kids put into it for at least six hours of practice each week and the time all day and Dwan Haubner put in at the University of Alberta graduate said.

"I'm very impressed with the community spirit of the school and the town," he added.

"I'm learning and enjoying it at the same time."

FMHS

'Best' still doesn't win

Playing some of their best soccer all the FMHS Warriors advanced to the semi-finals of a tournament in Edmonton on the weekend.

The high school team coach Scott Lewis said the team's best soccer all the played all year.

"The team went through the round robin with a 10-0 win and three loss record. It came up against Grande Prairie in the semi-final and lost two games in one. Grande Prairie eventually won the tournament over Estevan in three games.

"We did pretty good," Lewis explained adding the team beat their rival Ponsonburg counterparts for the final robin.

The Warriors, on the other hand didn't fare that well. They played three win and 10 loss record in the round robin.

The next tournament for both teams goes on a couple of weeks in St. John's.

Cross-country

Four advance

Four out of five of the cross-country runners have advanced to the provincials after a race in Atholville last week.

The four runners are Markham, high school, and compete in 4 categories: the Saturday. For all Markham's Noddy, David, Hands, McQuinn and David Keith. The four runners will compete in the intermediate, senior high, and the junior level.

Whiskey Gold and Harke ride to victory

By Larne Christensen

It was a Gold.
But nobody was close to being that good.

Whiskey Gold won it.
The local horse was crowned superhorse of the year at the Canadian National
Quarter Horse show in Lethbridge recently.

Whiskey Gold and trainer Kathy Harke strutted their stuff at the three-day event and placed the highest in points after several classes to take the honor. Whiskey Gold and Harke competed in English pleasure, hunter hack, barrel, poles, western pleasure, western riding,
reining and trail.

"When we went down we knew we had a good shot at it," says Jackie Harke about the win.

"But you never know
who's going to be there," she added.

And there were lots of impressive horses at the show including a six-time world champion in English, the leading mare in the nation from Montana, leading horse in the youth western riding and the top junior pleasure horse.

"We placed consistently in the top five in everything," Harke added.

While the win wasn't a total surprise, it was remarkable considering Whiskey Gold's condition.
The horse had only been ridden for two days after recovering from being lame.
"It started at 6 a.m. and finished at 2 a.m.," Harke said about the events each day.

"The horse was beat," she added.

The horse wasn't the only livestock competing.
Rider and trainer
Kathy Harke also didn't get much rest and slept between classes.

But the win didn't go unrewarded. Harke received a cheque for $2,500 from General Motors along with $1,000 in individual class winnings. Harke also came home with the prize for best decorated stall, a new addition to this year's show.

"They had good sponsors or the show just wouldn't go," Harke explained.

General Motors, Texaco,
Petro Canada and Crystal
Glass were the major sponsors for the event that gave away 180,000 in prize money.
"This is what we needed to go for the big one," Harke explained, adding they will now travel to Oklahoma for the world's in a couple of weeks.

"The horses have to pay their way and Whiskey Gold does that," she added.

In November they will head south for the world championships and Harke
says they will never win it, although they did place third last year. The superhorse award at the world's is worth $10,000 to the horse and rider.

"It's not a holiday,
there's too much alarm and stress," Jackie says about the trip south.

Fleischaker wins award

Fourteen year old Tara Fleischaker did well at the recent Canadian National Quarter Horse show in Lethbridge.
Fleischaker was named

the reserve champion in the Youth Hunt seat equitation event.
She beat out 25 other youth riders to claim the award.

Fleischaker also took a fifth in the youth western riding and open trail events.
She was competing in the 14 to 19 year old class.

New swimming pools are a big priority at several Alberta communities.

Indefinite has just turned the sod for a $1,336,666 million indoor facility and Three Hills town council have given first reading to borrowing $410,000 toward a new indoor pool.

At Lacombe, a new "leisure centre, family oriented, community kind of pool that is more than just a swimming pool, is the goal of their town council. The $1.8 million pool could be built in 1990.

On the local scene, Tom McEwen mentioned at the election forum that it could be 10 years before a complex is seen here.
When he was asked in clarity if that meant it would be 10 years before it was started or completed, McEwen said completed.

Meanwhile, two local service clubs are raising funds for a new facility.

Proceeds from the Klusman bazaar are earmarked for a community complex while funds from the Lions Octoberfest are scheduled for a multi purpose complex.

And, as we understand it, several companies are interested in donating funds for a new complex.

Now that the election is over, it would be encouraging to see the town and the Community Centre Society get together and work on a new complex.

If you follow the Alberta Junior Hockey League (AJHL), we have a few schedules.

The Drayton Valley Ski Club will be dancing for snow when they hold their annual ski ball this Saturday at the Elks Hall.

The volunteer club that expended their share purchases
ed additional land and obtained more sites for their rental shop was only open five days last winter. It's hard to balance the books when Old Man Winter doesn't cooperate.

If you're a skier, support their cause this weekend.

The Drayton Valley Curling Club who are looking at a new rink within two years, will need lots of participation this winter.

It was obvious from the election forum that taxpayers money wouldn't be available for a new rink. No, if that means the curlers will have to pay the shot, the more the better for everyone concerned.

Changes to local runs are being planned for next year

By Lance Christensen

In an effort to increase participation in local running events, several changes are being planned for next year according to one local runner.

Rick Watrich, the track coach from the high school, has suggested a change in the annual Terry Fox run locally. Watrich has suggested to the others, the organizers of the run, to add a "competitive" side to increase interest.

The change would see prizes or ribbons up for grabs for top finishers along with several draws for all finishers of the run. The event would be similar to the high school's Turkey Trot, which has numerous draws for the finishers.

This year's Turkey Trot even though it was marred by bad weather attracted 118 runners.

Another possible problem with three runs being close together will also be solved next year. In the past the Terry Fox run, Ironman of Oiltown triathlon and Turkey Trot have fallen close together. Next year's edition of the Ironman triathlon is being planned for late spring.

The high school's Turkey Trot will also change in some areas next year. Watrich says they are looking at creating a race for junior high runners along with a class for Grade 5 and Grade 6 competitors.

"We had a good turnout (this year) but it's been if there's good weather," he said, pointing out they plan to continue the "lunch hour" for next.

Dan Zimmer on the bench.

Going for four

By Lance Christensen

A one and a two And a three But four?

Not yet. But Dan Zimmer is hoping for four.

Zimmer and his players from the Grand Trunk high school in Eversburg are aiming at their fourth straight provincial volleyball crown.

The Grizzlies as they are called, have won two double A championships and one triple A championship in the last three years.

We're going to compete in two As this year," Zimmer says. The nine-year veteran coach says they lost four key starters from the team that captured the triple A crown last year.

"I've got eight players back," he added.

Last year's squad decided to move up to the tougher triple A class and compete against larger schools. "We opted to go up," he explains adding they knew they had a chance to win at the higher level.

"We had the talent in us all the way," he pointed out.

And they did.

But now with younger talent, Zimmer is looking at extending the string of provincial titles at the double A level. "I think one of the big things is playing as a team," Zimmer says about the secret to the Grizzlies' success.

It's the biggest plus if they do that," he adds.

"It's not just the six guys on the floor but the whole team," he explains. This year's team is "stronger" on the bench than before Zimmer says, adding people are coming off the bench and "doing the job."

"We're starting to gel," he added.

The team has three Grade 10s, six Grade 11s and four Grade 12s.

Local youth win two medals

It was spelled out in black and blue. Naturally, the more advanced black belts were expected to win in the B.C. Tae Kwon Do championships last week. But two Drayton Valley boys beat the odds.

Deryk Hamilton and Dary Lingard, both 14, both blue belts fighting in groups that included black belts.

Yet the two Grade 9

students at H.W. Pickup both came home from the British Columbia tournament with medals. Hamilton won the gold in the sparring 18 to 19-year-old lightweight blue-black division. Lingard, mean while, took the bronze in the 18 to 19-year-old blue-black belt pattern division.

Hamilton and Lingard were among four boys from Nelo Tae-Kwan-Do club to compete in the Vancouver tournament, the provincial championships for B.C.

The two local youths went to B.C. along with two others from Stony Plain, to compete with more than 200 other fighters from Canada and the United States.

Jackrabbits

Ski registration

It's just for kids. The Jackrabbits ski program is a nation-wide effort to expose more youth to cross-country skiing.

Locally the idea has also been catching on and the Pembina Nordic Ski club is planning a registration for its "serenest" Jackrabbits skiers on October 25.

The registration will start at 10 a.m. at the United Church and will include games for the kids along with an instructional lesson on clothing and ski equipment.

The program received a recent boost in funding with a $600 grant from the recreation board.

Downhill ski club president Al Dunlee climbs up one of the towers on the law rope at the ski hill. Members were out in full force last weekend sprucing up the hill in preparation for the upcoming ski season. While the hill still looks bare in the background it won't be long before the snow flies and it's full of skiers. Just down the road the cross-country ski club also spent the weekend preparing their trails and adding some new routes.

Clemmer named curling club president for coming year

Bruce Clemmer has traded in his football cleats for curling shoes.

Clemmer, coach of Drayton Valley's tackle football squad this past summer, was elected president of the curling club last Thursday. He has been on the curling executive for the past 12 years, but this is the first time he has been president.

Bruce Clemmer.

Clemmer replaces Alex Salft, who stepped down after serving three terms as president.

Karen Balnukh was elected first vice-president and Carl Passy in the new second vice president.

The 1986-87 curling season will get underway tomorrow (Wednesday) night with the annual curling school. Rates have been reduced from last year in an effort to attract more curlers. League curling starts Nov. 3.

Jerry Merwin will be back as caretaker and ice maker at a salary of $2,500 per month. Urs Jopie will return for a second year to handle the convention and bar at a salary of $1,200 per month.

Last Thursday's meeting also accepted the executive recommendation of a $10 across the board rate increase. Rental costs will also be going up and drinks at the bar will cost an additional 15 cents.

The club is looking at an additional cost of $10,000 to cover the cost of water sewer and taxes this year.

Salft told the meeting that a recent discussion with the town indicated that the curlers could make application for a grant to cover their water, sewer and taxes.

"They told us to get over there and do something," Salft added.

The curling club heads into the new season with about $22,000 in the bank.

A financial statement showed that the club spent $9,085 on repairs to the east wall and three major bonaparts last winter (men's ladies and mixed) lost $2,005.

Jerry Merwin paints the ice.

On the opposite side of the ledger, bar receipts totalled $12,840 compared to $4,270 the previous year.

Clemmer says he hopes to come up with some new ideas to erase the deficit the bonaparts created. For starters, he would like to see 48 rinks in the men's bonapart compared to 31 last winter. Clemmer recalled 10 years ago when the men's split drew 64 rinks.

In support of a new facilty, the club started a fund raising committee during the off-season. At the present time they are selling tickets on a $19,000 Magic Wagon with the draw scheduled for March 28 - the date of the club's year-end windup.

Sale of curling club lot known at year-end

The Drayton Valley Curling Club should know by the end of the year on the sale of their building and land.

Retiring president Alex Salft told a standing-room general meeting last Thursday night that the provincial government is very interested in both the building and the land.

An appraiser is expected in Drayton Valley before the end of October. Then, according to Salft, the province will make an offer within 60 days.

Newly-elected president Bruce Clemmer told the meeting that the club hopes to get between $550,000 and $600,000 for the building and land.

When asked how much a new curling rink would cost,

Clemmer replied that a shorter would be about $400,000 and eight about would be around $750,000. That price could climb to $800,000 to $1 million, depending on how many extras the club wanted to add.

Salft said the curling club would like to be part of the much talked about complex. But he added, "nothing's concrete."

He also told the curlers, "We will have to pay our own way."

The one situation the curling club executive will be watching very closely, is that their possible sale could be concluded before the town is ready to proceed with a new facility in West Valley Park.

The curlers learned that the club is facing a major expense in another couple of years, as the roof over the loo will have to be replaced at a cost of $100,000 to $150,000.

"The next two years will be very critical for the club," Clemmer stated.

Oilmen's

Hockey league weekly results

Eight was enough.
At least for four out of five games.

Eight was a popular total in last week's Oilmen's hockey league results.

Four out of the five games ended with the winning team notching eight goals. Dome clubbed the Truckers 5-1 while Andex dumped Mohl 8-2, the Icehawks beat the Truckers 8-3 and Brandette posted an 8-5 win over Andex.

The only game that didn't see the winning team score eight goals was Chevron's 4-1 win over Brandette.

This week Dome takes on Brandette at 31 p.m. on Wednesday. Andex and the Truckers face off at 11:56 p.m. on Friday with Brandette and Tezaco going at it at 11:15 p.m. on Saturday. Action continues Sunday with Mohl and the Truckers taking to the ice at 9 p.m. with Dome and Chevron playing at 10:30 p.m. Monday and Andex and Icehawks going at 11:30 p.m. on Monday.

SCHOOL NOTEBOOK

An organizational meeting for the PMHS curling club will be held in room 112 tomorrow.

All those interested, including experienced under high students are encouraged to attend.

Practice times and inter-team games will be provided at the Drayton Valley curling rink Tuesdays from 4-6 p.m.

Zone play-offs will be held during the month of February in Edson.

Curriers should have their own equipment.

A students association dance will be hosted by a K 97 radio personality Friday. Students are reminded guests must be signed in previously and the student is responsible for the guest's behavior.

Parents might be interested to know report cards came out Monday — just in case Johnny forgot to tell you.

Another note for parents is that parent/teacher interviews will be held Oct. 30 and 31.

Eldorado

Report cards will be issued for the first term on Nov. 7 at Eldorado.

The school will be closed for Remembrance Day on Tuesday, Nov. 11.

And the next day will see students relaxing at 2:15 because of a staff meeting.

St. Anthony's

The school will be closed tomorrow as it hosts a superintendents institute on student evaluation. Officials from the board of education will offer various workshops. Both the boys' and girls' volleyball teams are in action again this week. The boys split last week's games 2-2 while they were 1-1.

Elementary B

The school hosted World Food Day last Thursday as the students were given a chance to see how life is in other countries.

The Grade 2s have started taking their Red Cross swimming lessons at the pool.

As renovations continue the school has been forced to close their gym and are still making other arrangements.

A special treat Nov. 12 for the students will be children's author Cora Taylor. She will be giving readings from her books on life in Canada.

The school's volleyball vaulted back into action today as the boys travel to Winnipeg and the girls journey to Warburg.

The Grade 7s found initiation into the high school rather an enjoyable, if slightly embarrassing experience, last week.

A reminder, Lindale will be holding their bonanza huge tonight with prizes of a color television and a $500 jacket.

They will also be holding an auction Nov. 8 to help pay for the purchase of a new 46 passenger bus. Donations of all kinds are appreciated.

All schools in Parkland County will be closed Oct. 27 as teachers participate in a Teachers Institute in a Teachers Institute Workshop at PMHS and St. A's.

Tough, but worthwhile job

As the second school month closes Frank Maddock high school's teachers are finding their jobs tough, but worthwhile, says its president.

"To set the plans, put them into action and get the wheels rolling," says Gillian Macfarlane, "takes a lot of time, but I like it."

And "if you're nice to people they'll help you out," she says.

But it's not just the students who help, the teachers also lend a hand.

"The teachers are really super. They don't mind me leaving classes to do my rounds. And I spend so much time in the office they told me I should just move my locker in there," she laughs.

"I'm really glad I have a spare or it would take much more time after school," says the Grade 12 student.

Much of council's time is spent planning fund raisers and social events to get students involved.

Approximately 800 teachers and 80 different sessions alter natives. It will also include speakers from the Parkland school division, surrounding areas, and from as far away as Germany.

They will speak on topics such as Early Childhood Classroom, An Important Link in the Cultural Literacy Chain, Apprehensions The Link for All Seasons, Student Evaluation, Strategies for Studying, Special Ed

tion, Effective Schools: A Goal Setting Experience That Works.

The keynote speaker for the day will be Norman Goble, Secretary General of the World Confederation of Organizations of the Teaching Profession, which involves eight million teachers from 146 separate organizations from 96 countries.

Editor's note: Agnes Primmus is a teacher at St. Anthony's school in Drayton Valley.

And the first couple of events have been quite successful. A "Welcome Dance" raised around $450 and they had 119 people turn out for the annual "Turkey Trot" despite wet weather.

Council member Rick Day is impressed by the amount of people who get into the spirit of "Punkin' Day".

He feels "at least 15 per cent more" got involved this year and "it has to be infectious to the grade 10s and 11s," who are traditionally unactive.

"I'm really glad I have a spare or it would take much more time after school," says the Grade 12 student.

Teacher development day

By Agnes Primmus

On October 27 the annual professional development institute for Parkland County and separate school teachers will be held at Frank Maddock and St. Anthony's schools in Drayton Valley.

The purpose behind the institute is to provide educators the opportunity to participate in development activities of concern to them.

Much hard work and planning has taken place for this event, which includes ap proximately 800 teachers and 80 different sessions alter natives. It will also include speakers from the Parkland school division, surrounding areas, and from as far away as Germany.

Lindale school program a first

By Judy Hyman

Lindale school is the first school in the county of Leduc to take part in a "Smoke-free Spaces for Kids" program, co-sponsored by the Canadian Heart and Stroke Foundation and the Canadian Home and School and Parent Teacher Federation.

The school was presented with a plaque and flag awards for becoming 100 per cent "smoke-free". The goal of Smoke-Free Spaces for Kids is to reduce the number of children and adolescents who take up smoking. Two powerful factors which influence a child's decision whether to smoke are role models and the environment.

"Smoke-free spaces" is aimed at adults who work with children and teens or who control the environments in which young people work and play.

Young people usually try smoking when their "heroes" do it. "Smoke-free spaces" encourages role models such as parents, teachers, coaches and youth group leaders to refrain from smoking in the presence of young people and to restrict smoking in areas frequented by them.

Fewer young people would take up the smoking habit if their role models set a non-smoking example. Since schools and teachers are the most prevalent environments and role models for young people, they constitute a primary target audience for the program.

Incentive awards including certificates, plaques and flags have been developed and role models for young people, they constitute a primary target audience for the program.

"Smoke-free" space declared at Lindale

By Lorne Christensen

It's a first.

And Lindale school is proud of it.

The school has been officially declared a "smoke-free space for kids" under a program co-sponsored by the Canadian Heart and Stroke Foundation. Other sponsors include the Canadian Home and School and Parent Teacher Federation.

The school is the first school in the county of Leduc to be named a "smoke-free" area according to Judy Hyman, from the Leduc Strathcona Health Unit.

The goal of the program is to reduce the number of children and adolescents who take up smoking. The "smoke-free" program is aimed at children and teens and con trol the environment in which young people work and play, according to a health unit press release.

The program encourages role models such as parents, teachers, coaches and youth group leaders to "refrain" from smoking in the presence of young people. The schools are a primary target audience for the program because of the environmental release ment as is say. Incentive awards, in the form of certificates, plaques and flags, are also given to schools and groups who qualify Youth groups like 4-H clubs, sports teams, Guides or church groups are also eligible to apply for the award.

Anyone wanting more information on participating in the program, the release a "smoke-free space" pro gram can write to the Alberta Heart and Stroke Foundation, 1025 Park Road S.E., Calgary, Alberta or call Judy Hyman at the Leduc Strathcona Health unit at 467-5571.

Former Lindale school principal Mario Aller-Rodriguez spearheaded the project to have the school declared smoke-free.

Turning 93

Fred Seutler blows out the candles of his cake on his 93rd birthday last week. Seutler celebrated the momentous occasion on Friday with family and friends. The former Rock Rapids resident now lives in the extended care wing of the hospital and is their oldest resident.

deaf, Seutler came to this area in the 1930s and has three children, 16 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. He was an original member of the very first Drayton Valley hospital board and worked there as a greengrocer at the old hospital.

Gas bar hours

Don't run out of gas after midnight in Drayton Valley, at least not till November anyway.

By then the Mohawk gas station "will probably be back on 24-hour service," said attendant Bob Miller.

While Mohawk plans on re-implementing 24-hour-the-clock service several other stations around town have cutback their hours because of the slowdown in the economy.

Fas Gas, for instance has cut its hours from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. because business has fallen off," said manager Brian Stevens.

However, most stations are staying with their regular hours and have no plans to cut hours.

Other gas pump hours:

- Turbo 5 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Mon.-Fri., 6 a.m. to midnight on weekends

- Fas Gas, 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily
- Turco, 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mon.-Fri., 7:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sat., 8 p.m. to 8 p.m. Sun.
- SAG Shell, 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mon.-Valley Esso, 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. Mon.-Fri., 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. Mohawk, 6 a.m. to midnight daily
- ICO, 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. Mon.-Sat., 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sun.
- Rad Roadster, 6:45 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily.

Camaro severely vandalized

Between 2:30 and 3:30 a.m. on Sept. 10, a silver colored 1981 Camaro was severely vandalized while parked in the lane behind the owner's residence at 5091-45 St. in Drayton Valley.

Two male suspects were seen running from the area and driving away in a nearby parked car.

Reverse onus

The Motor Transport Board has deferred implementation of the reverse onus policy on applications by truckers for extra provincial operating authority from the Alberta Board.

Minister of Transportation and Utilities Al Adair announced recently Alberta has been prepared for some time now to implement the policy and had previously indicated that the new policy would be implemented Oct. 1. However, at the recent Ministers of Transportation conference, it was learned that other provinces are not yet ready to implement the new policy. Saskatchewan and Alberta were the only two provinces that could proceed at this time.

Applications for authority to transport goods across Alberta boundaries, that drew objection from authors and carriers, will continue to be heard before the board with one on the applicant to prove public need for the proposed service. The reverse onus concept placed the onus on a position of proving that granting an application was not in the public interest.

Since the provincial boards must treat all applicants in a like manner, there is the possibility that other provincial truckers would have an easier time getting approval to Alberta than Alberta truckers might have elsewhere. The Alberta Trucking Association has raised concerns with Alberta acting for its own.

"The trucking association raised a very valid concern," remarked Adair. "On the rest of the provinces are prepared to proceed, we'll just have to wait." The other provinces are agreeable to this policy and will be proceeding. "A number of provinces are amending legislation to make the change, but it is now taking longer than was expected," Adair indicated. "I believe we'll certainly see the change completed some time next year."

Local drilling remains steady

While drilling activity on the provincial scale is down, local activity remains constant.

In the Drayton Valley area 20 rigs are operating right now, according to Energy Resources Conservation (ERCB) area supervisor Jim Reid.

Statistics from the Canadian Petroleum Association indicate there were 102 rigs drilling in Alberta as of early October. A year ago, at the same time, 203 rigs were working.

The provincial drop is also reflected in the number of wells drilled so far during the year. At this point last year 2,916 oil and gas wells had been drilled in the province. That figure stands at 216 so far this year.

While on a province wide basis the drilling activity has dropped, locally it remains steady.

"It's staying constant," Reid says about the activity adding it is definitely down from the figures two years ago near the end of the "boom."

Reid said the drilling activity "moderates" but added two years ago it was "very active."

"It's not dead, there is activity out there in drilling, servicing and construction," he explained.

Shop at Shangri-La for crafty values

The annual Shangri-La crafts bazaar won't be held this year.

Instead, it's "drop by any time" service, said Mary Ayala, coordinator for the bazaar.

"It will relieve the pressure of trying to have so much done ahead for the bazaar, she said.

"Last year it was so big. We had so many people, there was no room. It's great to have so much community response but we have to look at fire codes et cetera and we don't want to lose the purpose of our residents enjoying what they do."

Although in the past the seniors have taken special orders, they try to stay away from it because of the pressure deadlines.

Ruth Kasten prefers to "stay at home" in her room and make her work work money.

Hill Fida demonstrates the art of hooking a wall hanging in one of the atriums at the lodge.

Carl Anderson prepares leather for stitching in the making of lamp shades. The leather is first soaked in water, then punched.

Albert Schenker eyes up how his little wall clock will look. Albert has been very successful winning awards at local fairs and selling his wood products.

Evergreen

Picture of children wins contest

Children pictured wading in cool water on the shores of the river flowing through Pembina Park was chosen an award winner by the Tourist Association's Snap Around Evergreen photo contest.

Myrtle Hushagen placed first with his photo contest entry, which best depicted tourism aspects in the Evergreen Tourist Zone — its marvelous scenery and parks.

This contest, sponsored by the Evergreen Tourist Association and Lynard Publishers Ltd. (newspapers The Grove Examiner (Spruce Grove), The Reporter (Stony Plain), The Western Review (Drayton Valley), The Poplar Press (Edmonton) and The Freeholder (Mayerthorpe), was held throughout the summer of the past two months, and a number of submissions were received.

Association represent tative June McDermett said she was surprised and pleased with the number of submissions received.

"For the first year of the contest, I think we had excellent response better than I had hoped," McDermett said.

Publisher of The Reporter and The Grove's summer, Steven Dille was one of the judges for the contest and said the selection was difficult due to the high caliber of entries.

"We had some excellent submissions," McDermett agreed, "and next year we hope to run the contest for a longer period of time and get even more submissions. Plans are already underway for this to become an annual contest."

In total 18 submissions were received by the association, and were judged Oct. 8. All entries were from adults. No one entered the 12 years of age and under category.

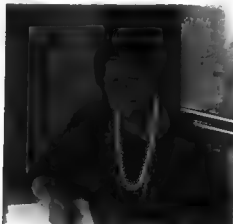

For his first-place finish, Hushagen will receive an Olympus OM1 camera and flash, plus a trophy.

Finishing second was a photograph of the Hoodoos in the Emerson Lake area taken by Al French of Hinton. He will receive a camera bag and a trophy.

Placing third in the contest was Brenda Haley of Spruce Grove who snapped a beautiful shot of a farmhouse in the Garden Valley area. Haley will receive an 8x10 enlargement, with frame and a trophy for her placement.

An honorable mention was given to Edmund J. Apprais of Edmonton for his photograph of the Pembina Canyon.

Photos received in the contest will be used by the association to promote tourism throughout the Evergreen Zone.

Ruth Pratt

Rarely needs to refer

By Gary Logie
Yellowhead MP Joe Clark's constituents are well taken care of despite all his time spent in Ottawa, says his constituency secretary.

He's to the riding every six to eight weeks," says Ruth Pratt, and he would like to be here more often except his present position keeps him very busy. He really tries to be here as much as possible.

But while Clark is tied up with his External Affairs portfolio, Pratt handles the day-to-day workings of his riding office.

Her job consists mainly of "anything of a federal connection from old age pensions to unemployment benefits. I try to meet with as many as possible and relay messages and concerns on the fast machine to Joe or David Jones, his executive assistant."

She says people sometimes get confused by the two separate offices for her and the executive assistant. Her's is the riding office and David Jones is the Executive Assistant to the Minister of External Affairs. Pratt works closely with the assistant as well as well.

as Drayton M.L.A. Shirley Cripps' office in Drayton Valley.

But the need rarely arises where she has to actually refer a problem to Cripps' office.

"I feel they deserve a bouquet for opening me up of free to us. We don't usually get one provincial problem in the whole year from her riding. It's very well looked after."

When Pratt does get concerned of a provincial nature she refers them to the appropriate minister, and sometimes to the local level of government.

Although even if she solves the problem on her own or refers it, she still reports it to Clark in Ottawa every two weeks and he follows up with a letter to see everything is in order.

Ruth Pratt is in Drayton Valley the first Wednesday afternoon of every month. She also travels to Wildwood, Evansburg, Hinton and Jasper at various times throughout the month.

Constituents can reach Pratt anytime by calling Zenith 22190 to express their concerns.

Halloween

A versatile vegetable

It began more than 2,000 years ago with the Celtic people of Britain and France, but today Halloween is celebrated much more in North America than in Europe.

Long before Canadian and American children began trick-or-treating, however, people in Scotland, Ireland, England and France looked upon Oct. 31, the eve of All Saints Day as one of ghosts and goblins.

Europeans brought their Halloween beliefs to the New World with them. To many early colonists, witches and devils seemed very real and Oct. 31 was not a night for fun. As the pioneers moved west, however, it became more of a harvest celebration when families would bundle around an open fire roasting nuts and telling ghost stories.

But if wasn't until the Irish came to North America that Halloween became really popular. Irish children used to carve smiling faces on turnips, call them "boggies", and carried them on Halloween to scare away witches. When they came to America, Irish children began carving pumpkins instead of turnips and that's how the pumpkin became a Halloween jack-o'-lantern.

The prolific pumpkin remains a most versatile vegetable. A member of the squash family, it's easy to cook and makes great pie. To cook pumpkin, wash and cut it in half, crosswise. Remove seeds and strings. Place in a cookie sheet, cut side down and bake in a 325°F oven for an hour or until tender. Scrape pulp from the skin and puree in a food processor or blender.

Pumpkin seeds make a tasty roasted snack. Just wash and dry them, spread on an oiled cookie sheet and sprinkle with garlic salt. Place seed under broiler for about five minutes on each side or until brown.

Whether you use fresh or canned fillings, nothing beats that classic Canadian fall dessert - pumpkin pie. Here's a tasty recipe using a single crust made for no fail pie crust mix.

Pumpkin pie

1/4 envelope Robin Hood flaky pie crust mix

1 1/2 cups pumpkin

1/2 cup brown sugar, packed

1/2 tsp salt

1 tsp cinnamon

1/2 tsp ginger

1/2 tsp allspice

3 eggs

1 1/2 cups evaporated milk or light cream

sweetened whipped cream

Prepare unbaked 9" pie shell as directed on package.

Combine all ingredients in a bowl. Beat until well mixed.

Pour into unbaked pie shell.

Bake at 400°F for 45-55 minutes or just until set.

Serve warm or cool with whipped cream.

County of Parkland

Volunteer fire department "one of the best"

The past two years has seen Parkland county's fire department become, "one of the best, if not the best equipped volunteer fire services in the province," according to the latest county fire chief report.

And the number of fire-related incidents is down so drastically the department is fast becoming recognized as a model for all other municipal districts and even line in Alberta," according to fire chief Ray Saunders.

In an August report to Parkland county council, the fire chief noted that while the department benefited this year from a wet spring, unusually the heaviest reason a determined public education and enforcement program accounts for a 50 per cent decrease in fire calls in the period from January 1984 to the present.

Presented before an August meeting of county council, Saunders reviewed the current status of his 182-man volunteer service.

Because of an aggressive public education and fire code enforcement program, more county residents are aware of fire dangers and "fire losses are on the decline," Saunders wrote to council.

"We've been working on a public education program for the last five years."

In the report, the fire chief noted, except for the 21-year-old truck stationed in Lodgepole, the rest of the fire trucks all vary between one and 10 years old.

However, he recommended county council consider replacing the Spruce Grove unit purchased in 1978 because of mechanical problems plaguing the 1975 model. He said the truck may have more miles than the odometer shows.

Saunders also recommended council consider a radio communications system that will coordinate police, fire, ambulance and animal control services with a single number.

He noted the system would require a 24-hour answering service but could consist in the form of a 1-800 number, a 24-hour emergency phone number or a toll-free, 866 exchange number.

The County of Parkland fire department's pet project, he said, and joy, is Saunders' own invention, the master directory.

"It took me about a year and a half's work. I worked in my spare time on this with my drafting people and my secretaries to make up all this," he explained.

Located at each of the department's eight fire stations is a massive ring binder holding maps of every county subdivision. Fictive subdivisions maps are directions showing the fastest way trucks can get to each fire from the different stations.

Thanks to the county's drafting department, each of the department's eight stations gets up-to-date details on the newest roads and subdivisions.

The new directory has now been used for a few months. The Parkland volunteer county police RCMP and the health unit now all have the books.

Alberta artist

"Anyone can paint"

By Gary Legie

Aspiring Picasso? - not likely, but determined painters just the same

That's why they decided to take a course offered through the Powerhouse and taught by Alberta artist Nick Cywink

Cywink has been painting on his own for the past eight years and also teaching for the last year

His first got into teaching art when he was approached by the Telford seniors home in Ladou

He became involved with the Powerhouse when coordinator Val Tucker saw his work at the Beverly Mall and asked him if he'd be interested in teaching for them

He now gives the classes weekly at Shangri-La Lodge working each time on a "different scene, technique or subject"

"Anyone can paint," he said, "all it takes is a little time, patience and imagination. The more you work at it the more you'll get out of it."

Cywink teaches the "wet on wet" technique, which is basically blending of colors with a two-inch brush, so his classes can finish the piece in one day

Usually he does "one with the class showing step-by-step stages through the painting."

Anyone wanting more information on this or past Christmas classes can contact Val Tucker at the Powerhouse Alberta artist Nick Cywink gives "Shoreline" a Lodge resident. Made lives some tips to get the class.

It is important to use our water resources efficiently

Most of us like to think of ourselves as a conservation society — protecting nature's supply of fresh water and saving ourselves some money at the same time.

It is, indeed, important to use our water resources efficiently, to reduce water and sewage treatment costs. But how many of us actually do it?

Why not take a moment to test your knowledge of water usage and saving devices? The answers to this quiz will likely surprise you!

1. What quantity of water is consumed by the typical family each day?
2. What fraction of your daily water consumption is used for toilet flushing?
3. Showering and bathing account for what fraction of your water usage?

Town

The Town of Drayton Valley and the Kusunnen will sponsor their annual Hallows party on Friday, Oct. 31.

The Halloween night party will be held from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the Rex Plex. All children 12 and under are welcome.

If you're interested in having your children attend a safe, controlled Halloween party, they must be registered by Oct. 28 at the recreation department in the town office.

Last year's Halloween party drew 185 youngsters compared to 300 two years ago. But recreation director Calvin Hennessey is expecting a larger turnout this year, as Halloween falls on a Friday night.

The town will close the swimming pool on Halloween night. However, plans are underway for their annual party on Oct. 27.

Dated have been set for several area Halloween parties.

Both Moon Lake and Falis have planned parties for Friday, Oct. 31.

Roose Lake are planning a family Halloween party and dance while Falis will host a party for the kids. For more party information on the Moon Lake party call 727-2807 and for the party at Falis phone 692-2471.

A typical family could save over $100/year on fuel and water costs by installing:

ANSWERS

1. c) 2000 L (550 gal)

Lots of change

"Experiences fade away with the years"

By Deana Hinkel

Bob and Grace Landers have seen a lot of change in the Drayton Valley area during the 56 years they have spent here.

To imagine what Drayton Valley looked like then, one has to picture a one-room school, a store and post office combined, and one church — all on the corner of 50 St. and 50 Ave.

Bob was born in Ontario in 1904 and came to the Kinsella district, east of Viking, at the age of two.

Grace was born in Iowa, U.S.A. and came to the Falls area when she was eight. Her father farmed and did commercial fishing there for three and a half years. They then moved to Edmonton where Grace completed her education and became a teacher.

While teaching school near Viking she met Bob and they were married in 1929.

The Depression began about the time they were married and the price of grain dropped to about 25 cents per bushel.

While visiting relatives near Drayton Valley, Bob decided he would like to live here. In 1930 they bought a homestead a few miles south of Drayton Valley near the Saskatchewan River.

His first year Bob built a log house and Grace taught school. She was the only teacher and had 25 students.

Bob laughs and recalls they could live on moose meat and potatoes out there, though he admits he wasn't much of a hunter.

They grew a garden and there were lots of wild berries. Grace recalls the summers when they would put food and bedding in a horse drawn cart to go to the Ladspole area for a few days of blueberry picking.

Bob worked in lumber camps for 20 years and while he was away Grace looked after things on the farm.

After oil was discovered, Bob helped build the ferry on the river between Drayton Valley and Black Creek. He was assistant ferryman for two years, then head ferryman for the rest of the time.

REQUEST FOR QUOTATIONS

Alberta Transportation requests quotations for the installation of a sewage holding tank and appurtenances at the Whitecourt Vehicle Inspection Station on Highway 43, approximately 6 km west of Whitecourt, Alberta. Bid packages with specifications are available at the Alberta Transportation District Office, 402B 1st Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta, or the Alberta Transportation Maintenance Yard, 35th Street & 36th Avenue, Whitecourt, Alberta. Quotations must be received at the Edmonton District Office, Friday, October 24th, 1986, at 2:00 p.m.

Alberta
TRANSPORTATION

It was in service. He later worked as a ferry carpenter and in the oil patch.

Bob was not operating the ferry the day it broke away and headed downstream — but their young son was. He and a young friend were going to try and hold a safety boat for passengers. The other boy was unable to hold onto it but the Landers boys managed to and went with it into the swift moving water.

So one was on the boat the boat turned over but he was able to grab a board that was attached. Everyone who saw him thought he had drowned. It was a relief to all to discover he had managed to hang on until he came to an island further downstream.

During the first while Bob made several trips to the Viking area with horses, a trip that took several days. On one such trip when Bob was going out for harvesting, Grace went with him. She sat on a spring filled seat on the hay rack and Bob still laughs when he recalls the sight of her bouncing along on those springs. At night they pitched a tent in the hay rack.

On other occasions Bob walked to Kinsella. There was more opportunity to do business there at that time. He made the round trip in one day, usually arriving home about 2 a.m., a total of about 60 miles. "It didn't bother me a bit," he said. He was healthy and had been athletic as a boy.

Grace and Bob Landers

During the initial oil boom, Violet Grace grew rapidly and a school was opened. Grace taught there for several years at one time having more than 100 students. She later taught at Drayton Valley for 10 years. She taught West College in the Pentecostal Church for 16 years. Although the oil there last year she still holds Bible study classes in homes.

The Landers agree that the biggest change in the country and their lives came after oil was discovered. Oil moved the country ahead 100 years. Otherwise we would still be living in the sticks. Bob stated:

Bob farmed until he was past 70. "I loved the farm," he says.

They say they had lots of experiences, but they all fade away with the years. They have five children: Ken, Bobby and Audrey living nearby, Glen in Toronto and Don in Edmonton. They also have 18 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Dangerous Goods

Inspections find technical errors

As part of continuing efforts to administer the Transportation of Dangerous Goods Legislation, Alberta Public Safety Services Dangerous Goods inspectors, assisted by the RCMP and Alberta Highway Patrol conducted four roadside inspections in the Edmonton and Calgary areas.

This program was developed to maximize limited resources in the examination of certain key components of the dangerous goods legislation and to promote awareness among carriers.

Of 181 inspections of vehicles transporting dangerous goods, 20.45 per cent were not in total compliance with the requirements of documentation, safety marks and training certificates. Of this percentage, approximately 90 per cent attempted to comply with legislation but had committed technical errors.

For example, not using the dangerous goods in the correct order or using a training certificate issued by another employer.

A total of 89 violations of the dangerous goods legislation were identified, for which 27 warning notices were issued.

Interestingly, nine cargo tanks had some form of non-tanker integrity faults resulting in leaking products. This represents 4.9 per cent of vehicles checked. As six vehicles were found to have equipment deficiencies such as remote emergency release valves wired in the open position. This represents a 3.3 per cent rate.

A lot of rain and a little sunshine has resulted in a good growth of grass at the new $225,000 track, south of the Frank Maddock high school.

The town engineer received a number of calls during the first week of Oct. over dirty water. It was a combination of rain and vegetation.

Double-ring

Richter-Ditchuk wed Sept. 6

The Evansburg United Church was the scene of a lovely double-ring ceremony Sept. 6 at 2 p.m.

Rev. John Crawford performed the ceremony uniting Ruth Constance, youngest daughter of Arnold and Olga Richter of Tomahawk and Daryl Walter, youngest son of Walter and Shirley Ditchuk, also of Tomahawk.

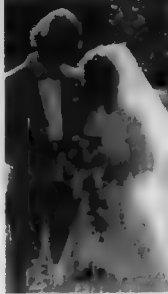

The bride, escorted down the aisle by her father, wore her mother's 30-year-old floor-length wedding gown. The gown had a lace bodice and satin skirt that was tucked up around the bottom with ribbons. It had a lace jacket with long lace sleeves and a wide neckline with sequins and pearls around the waist. The bride wore a long lace and a headpiece accented with pearls and sequins. The dress was redone by the bride's cousin, Sharon Richter of Edmonton.

She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations with white ribbon and red rose buds streaming down. All the flowers were done by Sherry Dusterhoft of Drayton Valley.

Matron of honor was Diane Case and bridesmaids were Tammy Terpstra and Lendy Ditchuk. They wore matching dresses of pink satin, cocktail-length, featuring straight-cut bottoms with three-quarter length jackets and high collars. Their matching pink hats had pearls around the top and a short veil to match. Their bouquets were pink and white carnations with white ribbon.

Jamie Tucker, flower girl, wore a long white dress ruffled from the waist down and carried a basket of pink and white carnations.

The best man was

Ruth and Daryl Ditchuk

Walter Case and groomsmen were Ron Solomon and Dick Powell. They wore grey tuxedos with pink ties and cummerbunds.

The ringbearer, Jeremy Hummelle, wore a matching tuxedo and carried a white satin and lace pillow. The groom's boutonniere was of a rose and white lily to match the bride's bouquet. The groomsmen wore white carnations.

The ushers were Dean Paprotka and Sheldon Sullivan.

The bride's mother wore a pink dress with a V neckline and a wide belt with sequins. The groom's mother chose a beige dress with a pleated skirt.

A reception was held at the Royal Canadian Legion in Drayton Valley.

The newlyweds are living just out of Tomahawk on an acreage.

Yellowhead Report

Ministers are highly capable

By Joe Clark, MP

In the Canadian system of government, deputy ministers have great power. Their attitudes affect the advice they give ministers, and the way the public service carries out government policy.

Generally, in my experience, Canadian deputy ministers are highly capable, and try genuinely to follow the direction of elected ministers. The great majority of them respect the traditions of the parliamentary system, by which elected ministers set policy and public servants apply it.

As anywhere else, deputy ministers stay too long in one job and become captive of old habits. One of our challenges, as a new government, was to break free of old habits, while retaining the invaluable expertise of excellent public servants.

We faced that problem in 1979 when, as prime minister, I replaced Michael Piffide as the country's senior public servant. This new government is acting in the same spirit, in two ways.

First, several new people have been brought into the federal public service from outside Ottawa — for example, Stanley Hart at Finance; Bruce Howe of Vancouver as deputy minister of Science and Technology; Frank Jacobson of the University of Toronto at Justice; Judith Maxwell as president of the Economic Council of Canada; Norman Spectre of B.C. into federal-provincial relations. In total, since our election, seven people have come to Ottawa as deputy ministers from outside the federal public service.

Second, we are moving senior officials into areas where their background can be particularly helpful.

The most recent example is Arthur Kroeger, the new deputy minister of Energy, Mines and Resources. Mr. Kroeger was born and raised in Alberta and is the brother of the former Provincial Highways minister Henry Kroeger.

For some time, Alberta provincial authorities had expressed concern about the attitude of officials in the Federal Energy Department. An Albertan is now the senior official in that department which is so important to this province and region.

Oil Wives

Come-as-you are night

Wardrobes consisting of nightgowns, housecoats, old bluejeans and sweatshirts formed the Oct. 7 meeting of the Drayton Valley Oil Wives.

The president arrived looking angelic in a flowing white housecoat while the publicity chairman was clad in a trend-setting off-white bedspread.

"The come-as-you-are" meeting was about to begin. A phone call to each member earlier in the week instructed the ladies to come in whatever they were wearing at the time of the call — and they did.

The Whitby ladies continued the festivities by treating the Oil Wives to a home-cooked Thanksgiving dinner complete with turkey and pumpkin pie.

With only a few days left until convention, the room was filled with conversation on travel plans, costumes and campaign ideas. Peggy Metcalf will be running for a fifth year on the board of the association of Oil Wives clubs.

Stacks of household gifts were presented to Mae Wachter whose home was destroyed in the flood earlier this year. The meeting concluded with a bingo game.

Lovely memories

Murphy's Law ruled during attempted photo session

I noticed a local store advertising recently to get your children's pictures taken.

What a lovely way to capture a memory you can treasure always. It sounds like a great idea.

I have a memory of the last time I captured my two darlings in a picture. An Edmonton outlet had a similar ad, so I decided to take Ryan and Rebecca.

Murphy's Law was in abundance and I should have known better. But I'm a mother and mothers are supposed to be able to overcome, if not handle, any situation. I did my best.

I was told to be sure and arrive there by 9:30 a.m. or I'd have a two-hour wait. So promptly at 9:15 I arrived, the kids are ready. This, you understand, was achieved by Super Mom and a minor miracle!

As we are walking but the door Rebecca has to go to the bathroom. Naturally the kids have their snowsuits and winter boots on, but that's okay, I still have 14 minutes. I can handle this.

While I'm in the bathroom with her I hear Ryan coughing, then choking, then yelling. What now? WHERE do kids get some of their ideas? Forget I asked that. I don't think I really want to know!

In the two minutes, if that, that I was gone, he'd climbed on top of my stove and reached my spice rack. He picked the one labelled "garlic".

"It smelled good Mommy, so I wanted to eat it but when I got it in my mouth it wasn't."

No kidding! I could smell the garlic all the way from the bathroom so you can imagine what the poor girl at the photographer's was up against.

One crisis settled (have you ever heard of a kid who ASKED to have his mouth washed out with soap?), back to Rebecca, who by this time has managed to reach the shampoo and decided to put the entire bottle on her hair.

At first, I was going to leave it. After all, it was 9:30 a.m. and I didn't want a two-hour wait.

But her hair did look a little greasy - pretty slick, actually. So I gave in and washed it. Thank goodness for blowdryers - we made it to the store by 9:55 a.m.

Super, but totally neurotic Mom strikes again. It's a good thing I didn't get MY picture taken.

And yes, when I got those pictures back I was able to smell Johnson's Baby Shampoo and garlic.

But it's been awhile since that time. (To be honest, wouldn't you have waited five years before venturing forth to try another photo session after that?) So I decided to phone the local store and make an appointment.

I was told to be there before 9:30 a.m. or I'd have a two-hour wait...just kidding!

Actually, I was told to come right away, no lineups and no delays. Just perfect pictures. Sounds like a great idea.

Alberta government

Time to stop the wringing of the hands

By Ray Martin
Official Leader
of the Opposition

The government's response to the problems facing Alberta has been woefully inadequate.

Mr. Getty's musings about the possibility of an assistance package to the oil industry along with Mr. Weber's recent trip to Europe are symptomatic of the government's approach. Low oil prices continue to take their toll, the consequences of gas deregulation are becoming clearer and the government continues to wait things out.

The premier has had a month since he first announced that the province was willing to "go it alone" on helping the oil industry. Now he needs another month to "fine tune" the government's response.

The minister of energy has returned from Europe with the startling revelation that oil will remain below $20 U.S. for two more years. That information is hardly new. It certainly wasn't worth the cost of his trip to get. But it's typical - the far fields of Europe look greener to Tory cabinet ministers when they're being called upon to provide leadership at home.

Now the minister wants to meet with Marcel Masse. He wants to discuss the possibility of Alberta limiting its oil production in an effort to boost prices. Well frankly, that's old hat. And if it's the reason for his next trip, it's redundancy at the taxpayer's expense. The premier already informally suggested this proposal to Sheikh Yamani in a telephone call several months ago.

The truth is that there is nothing new. The collapse of small oil and gas companies and the loss of tens of thousands of jobs continues, along with the dithering. The government searches high and low for answers instead of taking the initiative to develop solutions.

The premier and his minister should stay at home.

They must deal not only with the quick implementation of a meaningful aid package but oversee the transition to deregulation in the gas industry.

No amount of hobnobbing across the country and overseas is going to change the fact that they are ultimately responsible for the economic and social consequences of their inaction. It's time to stop the wringing of hands, and the platitudes and do something.

Grading contract announced

Minister of Transportation and Utilities Al Adair announced a $297,854 grading contract in the Mulhurst area has been awarded to Thompson Bros. (Const.) Ltd. of Spruce Grove.

This project involves regrading Secondary Road 616 from north of Mulhurst for five kilometres to east of Mulhurst.

"A tip of the cap to Shirley Cripps (Drayton Valley MLA) who has enthusiastically supported this project," said Adair. "It should be completed next summer and will assist recreational traffic in the Pigeon Lake area as well as farmers and resource-related traffic."

PUMPING WELL PERFORMANCE EVALUATION

The course is designed as a basic course for personnel directly involved in evaluating the performance of pumping wells and pumping equipment. The course will be beneficial to personnel conducting field measurements on pumping wells, as well as personnel involved with the interpretation of these results. Included will be a visit to a well being produced with a beam pumping unit to obtain dynamometer and acoustic well sounder measurements, followed by actual calculations performed on these measurements.

The course covers such topics as: Dynamometer tests, fluid level testing, pressure build-up tests, inflow performance relationships and speciality measurements.

The course will be offered October 28 - 30, 1988 in Drayton Valley. The instruction will be delivered by Mr. Bob Stevens of Tri-Ener-Tech Petroleum Services Ltd.

Berrymoor News

p.m. in the school library.

Joyce Thatcher and Linda Floden have returned from Expo. They report an enjoyable time.

The girls' and boys' volleyball teams have been travelling to different schools every Tuesday. Although not doing very well, they are trying very hard. Keep up the good work and the wins will come.

The Lindale students' union will be holding their first hamburger sale Oct. 22 (tomorrow). They will also be holding a bake sale at the same time. A Halloween dance Oct. 31 will be held at the school from 2 to 3:30 p.m.

The next meeting of the Berrymoor 3B's Club will be Oct. 21 (tonight) at the home of Olga Van Ember. Discussion will be about Halloween parties planned for the centre each year.

Please feel free to call me if you have any news items.

Seltenrich-Noseworthy

Park the scene of outdoor wedding for happy couple

Rotary Community Park in Drayton Valley was the scene of a lovely outdoor wedding Sept. 20.

Rev. Ben Sieppert performed the ceremony uniting Lorraine Seltenrich and Darryl Noseworthy.

Visitors attended from as far as Saskatchewan and British Columbia as well as many local residents.

Matron of honor, Doryce Arnold and bridesmaid Shari Reisterer are long-time friends of the bride while best man, Oral Noseworthy, is the groom's brother and Wes Komant, the groomsman is a close friend.

Soloist Beryl Sieppert sang There is Love, as Walter Seltenrich walked his youngest daughter down the aisle. A luncheon buffet in the Scout Hall followed the ceremony.

After a brief honeymoon, in Banff and southern Alberta, the newlyweds returned to Drayton Valley where they plan to make their home.
